Pocket Guide to Common Fungi this leaflet is illustrated with startlingly realistic water colour paintings by Peter Thwaites. Produced jointly by Fungi for Fun and the British Mycological Society (2005). The leaflet measures 10 × 21 cm folded; 60 × 21 opened out.

£1.50

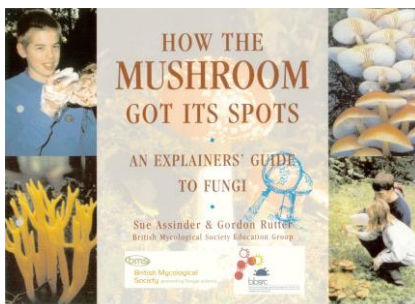

The Fungi Name Trail Beautifully illustrated simple 'yes/no' key by Liz Holden and Kath Hamper in the form of a fold-out chart. Designed as an introduction to dichotomous keys. Enables the identification of 30 commonly found fungi. Equally suited to working with 10 -14 year olds in a teaching situation or with families looking at fungi just for fun. Jointly published by the British Mycological Society and the Field Studies Council.

Fungus Fred goes Foraging by Maggie Hadley is a story book for young children; but Fred's story and related activity sheets give young people (age 7-11) the knowledge that makes them more aware of fungi in their everyday environment.

How the Mushroom got its Spots. This booklet by Sue Assinder and Gordon Rutter is a 44-page resource for teaching about fungi. Intended for teachers, rangers, guiders and anyone who needs background information, activity sheets, safety information and similar support for their teaching activities. Published jointly by the British Mycological Society and BBSRC. It's free, but we charge postage.

Key Stages for Fungi is a teachers' resource pack designed to ensure that pupils receive a well-rounded biological education. Contains well over 100 A4 pages of ready-made classroom resources to correct the under-representation of Kingdom Fungi in the National Curriculum. Mainly aimed at Key Stage 4, but also includes provision for aspects of Key Stages 2 and 3. It's free, but we charge postage.

£2.00

Claire Dalby's Leccinum versipelle Limited Edition print (winner of the BMS Centenary Competition). A 38 × 28 cm fine art print of exceptional artistic quality.
